We have reviewed your 2019-2020 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and your document(s) and it appears that there is conflicting information regarding your marital status or your parent(s) marital status (if a dependent student). If you are a dependent student, the information requested below needs to be submitted by your parents. In order to complete your financial aid file, please complete, sign, submit documentation, and return this form to our Financial Aid Office.

A student/parent is considered "married" if the student/parent was legally married in any domestic or foreign jurisdiction that recognizes that relationship as a legal marriage, regardless of where the couple resides. This determination applies to traditional or same sex couples. This determination does not apply to domestic partnership, civil unions, or similar formal relationships recognized under state law. If you are a dependent student and both biological and/or adoptive parents reside in the same household, you will need to provide parental information for both parents regardless of their marital status or gender.
