

School of Human Performance and Leisure Sciences

Three departments make up the School of Human Performance and Leisure Sciences: The Department of Sport and Exercise Sciences, the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, and the Department of Campus Recreation and Wellness.

The Department of Sport and Exercise Sciences offers both undergraduate and graduate degrees for students seeking career opportunities in human performance, leisure, and sport-related areas.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics provides students with the opportunity to represent Barry University in collegiate sport competition.

The mission of the Department of Campus Recreation and Wellness is to provide the University community with structured sport activities and leisure recreational activities to allow the development of lifetime patterns for healthful living.

Advantages of Barry's Sport Management program include:

Ideal Location. Southeast Florida is one of the most dynamic environments in the country for sport. Area opportunities include: amateur and leisure sport organizations; college bowl games; collegiate athletics; entrepreneurial sporting activities; facility, recreational, and event organizations; metropolitan recreation and fitness facilities; world-class golf and tennis facilities; and professional sport organizations.

Career Opportunities. The program will prepare you for a variety of careers in the field of sport management, including:

- Sport business management in amateur and professional sport (collegiate, Olympic, and international athletics);
- Entrepreneurial business in schools, diving and golf industry, and fitness centers;
- Leisure and tourism including management of park and recreation administration in recreation centers, YM/YWCA's, cities, and townships.

Experience faculty. Experienced faculty members offer in-depth sport management knowledge and professional network which can lead you to achieve your dream in sport industry.

Why choose Barry University and the Sport Management Degree?

The top reason is experience:

- Barry's strong NCAA Division II athletic program provides you with immediate access to practical experience on the Miami Shores campus.
- South Florida's tremendous sports industry offers a vast number of internship opportunities in practically any sport you can think of.
- Barry's qualified professors have strong academic credentials and experience in the field. They know what is happening in the real world of sport management and have strong professional networks.

Other reasons to enroll in Barry's Sport Management Program include:

Strong preparation. A minor in business forms part of the sport management B.S., by ensuring a broader understanding. You can also add broadcast communication and public relations courses to the program, further increasing your marketability.

Unique Specializations. Barry offers specializations in diving industry and golf industry on the Miami Shores campus.

Financial Assistance Programs. With different grants, loans, scholarships, and work-study opportunities, we do all we can to make your education affordable.

Master's Option. If eligible, you can earn the Sport Management M.S. degree by adding two years to your bachelor's program. Personalization. Small classes provide more opportunities for interactive learning and discussion.
